

Reporter day in Agricultural jahad minister

It seems that many of Agricultural reporters were waiting for “Reporter Day” to see the reaction of Agricultural Jahad minister. The first step was a new stand for reporters built at “Ghalam Day”. There were some complains but it was a little improvement. During the next month there were no news of good relations and the rumors of Agricultural Jahad minister resignation and no invitation of reporters to some meetings were heard.

Now the rumor of Eskandari resignation is the most challenging point but he denies this in his words!

He says: ”we should reach a balanced point in produce but according to government’s principals and views, will not cooperate with no political-oriented party or group.”Read Full report an page9

Fire in Golestan National Park

Forest is the green gift of God and trees are the only standing creatures that refresh the world by their breath.

But we frequently hear about different conflagrations around the world, especially in northern cities of Iran and Golestan National Park, which is one of the most beautiful parks in our country. Golestan National Park includes 1/8 of plant kinds, 1/3 of birds sorts and 50 percents of mammal in Iran and also possess 92,000 hectare of three provinces of Golestan, Semnan and Khorasan.

Mr. Asadi, the general director of technical office of Forests, Fields and Yielding waters Organization, says that hot weather and people’s carelessness has caused this event. He added: “most of the burnt lands in Golestan park have been of field and shrubs and the main part of forest has been preserved.” He also declared that: “it’s about 750,000 square meters of natural sources exploitation each year, while it’s been about 2 million square meters in 1370’s. Of course, forests in Iran are not considered as industrial sources, useful in wood industries.”

Africa is a golden opportunity for Iran’s agriculture

Travel of Agricultural Jahad minister to Africa was a good opportunity for investment of private section in this country. Africa possesses potential capabilities in different fields of agriculture; especially the countries like Uganda and Sudan, located by the Nil river, have a large part of water. On the other hand some religious similarities of these countries with Iran affect on Iranians investment positively.

The last visit of Agricultural Jahad minister to Sudan would be a new way of foreign cooperation of Iran and Africa.

Africa is a potential opportunity for Iranian investors, which would be acquired by farmers’ cooperation of two countries, that is an easy task!

A look at plants production and trade in Iran and the World

Hundreds Dollars of Ignored Foreign

Exchange

Mutation of non-oil exports in five-year plan of economical, social and cultural is of high importance. If it occurs, there would be a fertilization of economical talents and the growth of national production in one hand. On the other hand, unemployment would be disappeared. So considering some planning and schedule is so vital.

Iran is four-seasoned and has various weather and climate, which is a potential talent for the production of many plants. A great part of its land in north, center and western south is suitable for ornamental plants, the market of which is in Persian Gulf regions, northern neighbors and even the Far East Asia or Western Europe.

For a successful participation in international markets we should forget the traditional production system, build modern greenhouses and teach producers new techniques.

In spite of good potential of production, producers have different problems, which should be removed to obtain investment, employment and trade opportunities.

Although, the process of ornamental plants production isn't scheduled in Iran and it seems that no try has been done to use talents and superiorities of it. Finally it is expected that more attention been paid to this matter, so the third plan objectives would happens.
